“Teach Chicago Children to Save” is a fun and exciting program designed to help Chicago children in grades 1-3 learn about the importance of saving. “Teach Chicago Children to Save” is delivered to Chicago classrooms by Econ Illinois (Illinois Council on Economic Education).

How it Works

Volunteers from local banks and businesses

- Visit a neighborhood classroom for 45 minutes
- Read a children’s story book to the class
- Teach a lesson about saving, based upon the book
- Do an activity with the class related to the book and the lesson
- Leave the lesson plan, activities and book with the teacher
- Talk about their jobs and other saving related topics

Teachers

- Assist the banker during the lesson to obtain materials, maintain discipline, distribute handouts
- Complete the follow up activity at a later date
- Direct the students in an activity to send a “thank you” to the volunteer

How it Benefits

Students

- Learn about saving in a cross-curricular, hands-on activity
- Interact with a volunteer who reads to them and talks about his/her experiences regarding saving

Teachers and Schools

- Receive a book, lessons and activities for the classroom
- Network with a local business partner
